

Andri Soteri-Proctor

Andri accidentally discovered her passion and talent for painting at the age of 44 in 2015; when accompanying a friend to an evening life-drawing class at The Lowry, Salford. By 2016 she was trading at the Manchester Makers Markets. She is a prolific painter with an unmistakable experimental style that uniquely combines a free-flowing fluid approach with detail often seen in fine-art. Using her iPhone she then photographs her work and digitally plays with the images to bring out the vibrancy of the colours in her paintings and cleans up the background to give it a fresh look. Although she has become well-known on the makers markets for her striking animal art work, she also has a love for creating life, dance and portraiture images - a selection of these will be released online later in the year.

Want to buy some of Andri's work?

Please speak to a member of the café or office staff or email artsministry@cheadle.org.uk

Andri's work will be on display until 2nd October.